PROMINENT MAN EXPIRED TODAY

Oliver Nash Answered Last Call This Morning After Ten Days'
Critical Illness.

WAS BORN IN FAYETTE COUNTY

Was a Trustee of the Epileptic Village at New Castle—Appointed by Gov. Hanly.

Oliver Nash, one of the most prominent men in Rush county, died at his home in North Jackson street this morning at ten o'clock after a long illness. For about ten days Mr.
Nash has been critically ill with a chronic complaint, which he contracted during his service in the Civil war. About three years ago, Mr. and Mrs. Nash moved to this city and since that time have formed a large circle of friends.

Mr. Nash was one of the trustees of the Epileptic Village at New Castle and took an active interest in building up the new institution. He had charge of the farm connected with the Village and his associate trustees looked to him as a valued advisor. Although a Democrat he was appointed by Governor Hanly.

He was the youngest of a family of seven children, being born August 17, 1846, dying at the age of 63 years and 7 days. One sister, Mrs. Sarah Pratt of Sharpsville, died during the last year. Those living are Mrs.
Eliza Elliott of Connersville; Mrs.
Jane Turner, of Sharpsville, the eldest; Wm. Nash and Thomas Nash of Tipton; and Van Nash of Chicago.
A half-brother, Robert Nash, died about eight years ago.

Mr. Nash was born and reared in Fayette county and was married to Miss Jessie Hall, also of Fayette county in 1872. To this union were born two children, Homer Nash, and Norah Nash Cavitt. One granddaughter, Naomi Nash, his wife and two children survive him.

When the war broke out Mr. Nash was too young to get into the ranks to fight for his country, but during the last year of the war he was accepted in Company D. One hundred and thirty-ninth Indiana Infantry, and did splendid service in several important engagements. He was always bright and cheerful with an encouraging word for everyone he met. Even near the end he comforted his loved ones with cheerful words and good advice.

The funeral services will be conducted from the late residence on Thursday afternoon at two o'clock by Rev. V. W. Tevis of the St. Paul's M. E. church. Burial will take place in East Hill cemetery.

BAND CONCERT.

The O. P. C. H. has arranged for a band concert in front of the store Thursday evening. The firm has engaged the Rushville Band for that evening. The program will be announced Wednesday.

THROWN FROM CAR.

Harry Ford, in alighting from an
I. & C. car at Sexton street yesterday evening, was thrown to the ground and suffered several bruises, when the car started too soon.

MARRIAGE LICENSE.

Miss Mabel Addison and George L.
Adams were granted a marriage license Saturday evening.

HORSE SHOW IN OCTOBER

Promoters of Two Days Event Select the Dates.

At a meeting of the promoters of the Rushville horse show last night it was decided to hold the annual show this year on October 13 and 14. No definite plans have been made as yet as the committee has not raised sufficient funds to assure the complete success of the project.

HALL OPPOSED TO AUTO RACES

Lieutenant - Governor Thinks Governor Would be Justified in Calling Special Session.

COMPARED WITH BULL FIGHTS

Mr. Hall Says More Fatalities May Be Reasonably Expected at September Meeting.

If Lieutenant - Governor Hall had his way there would probably be a special session of the legislature to prohibit any more automobile races in Indiana. Mr. Hall is very much averse to this sort of sport and thinks the State should step in and put a stop to it right away.

There has been considerable talk of legislation since the fatal accidents at the motor speedway at Indianapolis last week, and there are many people who think that no time should be lost in keeping the speed maniacs from killing themselves. The speedway management has another event planned for September, and many argue that more deaths can be reasonably expected during this meeting.

"We talk about bull fights in Mexico," said Mr. Hall. "Why, did you ever hear of seven people being killed at a bull fight? And yet, right here in Indiana great crowds go out to witness an event in which it may be reasonably expected that human lives will be sacrificed. I think the governor would be justified in calling a special session of the legislature to pass a law prohibiting automobile races under conditions similar to those of last week."

ATTEMPT TO SAVE HIS LIFE FAILS

Henry Silvers Taken to Indianapolis
But Dies Before the Operation is Performed.

APPENDICITIS WAS THE CAUSE

Particularly sad was the death of Henry Silvers, the seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Silvers, who live two miles south of Arlington. Yesterday morning he was taken to St. Vincent's hospital in Indianapolis for an operation for appendicitis, but he died before time for the operation. He was brought back to his home late last night, only a few hours after he had been taken away in the hope of saving his life. He was taken sick while on a visit with his mother in Anderson, and was brought home Sunday.

The funeral services will be held Wednesday morning at the house at ten o'clock, conducted by Rev. Jacob Hester of the Wesleyan Methodist church. Burial will be in the Wesleyan cemetery.

MAKING PLANS FOR NEXT YEAR

Chautauqua Program Committee Arranging For Big Array of Talent Next Year.

AUDITING COMMITTEE REPORTS

Contests Will be Run on Different
Subjects With the Same Prizes.

Already plans are being made to make next year's chautauqua the best one in the history of this county.
At a recent meeting of the directors
the same program committee was appointed for next year and they will begin work immediately arranging the program for next year.

The committee is composed of John A. Titsworth, Prof. J. H. Scholl, Father Cronin and County Superintendent Orlando Randall. As they had had a year's experience, it was thought best to place them in the same capacity for next year. They are well acquainted with the duties of the committee and can obtain the talent easier this year. And with an early start they expect to get some of the best talent on the chautauqua program and will offer such an array of good lecturers and musical numbers next year as it has never been the privilege of local people to hear.

At the meeting of the directors, Lincoln Guffin and A. E. Martin were appointed on the auditing committee to make a financial report of this year's chautauqua. They made their report at the meeting of the directors this afternoon and everything was found to be satisfactory.

The promoters of the chautauqua have planned several contests for next year similar to the ones conducted this year. The only difference will be that they will be started earlier this year. Two contests will be run in the local papers and the prizes will be the same, ten dollars in gold for the first prize, two season tickets to the chautauqua for the second and one season ticket for the third.

The contests will be papers on the two subjects, "Suggestions for the Improvement of the City Park," and
"The Indian Corn Plant, Its Breeding and Cultivation in Rush County." Papers on the first subject, according to the conditions will be published later, will include a plat of the city park, showing the arrangements of all the proposed improvements. It will be possible for two people to collaborate on this paper, one drawing the map and the other writing the paper. The plat is supposed to show the arrangement of the flower beds, fountains, walks, drives, etc.

The paper on the other subject will no doubt be an interesting one and attract many contestants. The subject is one which will be of interest to every farmer and it is thought that many up-to-date growers will take this opportunity to make known their ideas on corn cultivating.

Competent judges will be selected to pass on the papers and the conditions of the contests will be published in the near future. The winning papers will be published after prizes have been awarded.

JUST SECOND TO ONE.

Secretary King said today that we will have the greatest fair outside of the State fair to be held in Indiana this year.

THE WEATHER

Generally fair tonight and Wednesday.

MERRY HUM AT AT FAIR TODAY

Things Are Being Arranged Spick and Span For the Opening on Wednesday.

GOOD RACES ON THE PROGRAM

Women Decorating Halls—Township
Exhibits Are Expected to be of Much Interest.

There's a merry hum at the fair ground today, and everything is being put in spick and span shape for the real opening day, tomorrow. Of course there were a lot of people out there today, but they were merely curiosity hunters, for the first real day is Wednesday and the management is expecting a record breaking crowd for that day.

A good racing card has been arranged and from the entries some good close and interesting heats may be expected Wednesday.

Secretary Will King was about the happiest man on earth today and he said the stand men and showmen who had been making all the fairs this year said that the prospects here were better than at any fair they had attended in the State. The indications are that Rush county will have the best fair in the State outside of the State fair is the verdict of the men who have attended the other fairs in the State.

Today the women were busy decorating the halls and making things ready for the opening day. Floral hall this year will be especially attractive place, and the exhibits there are expected to exceed anything seen in recent years. The township exhibit is expected to be of much interest to fair visitors.

The chief aim and purpose of balloonists, dirigible balloon and aero-plane flyers seems to be to keep the people on the qui vive. This may be a trick of the profession.

Sheriff Will King is a veteran in the fair business and is pronounced the best secretary ever. A proprietor of one of the shows on the ground said that he was the best secretary he had ever come in contact with and he has been making the fairs all of his life. The horsemen are all high in their praise of Secretary King.

Five hundred tickets on the I. & C. on Tuesday morning sounds pretty good for a record breaking week, doesn't it?

The I. & C. has made its usual preparation to handle the fair ground crowd and is expecting to carry more people this year than ever before. Each year the company has handled the crowds easily and rapidly and there has not been an accident of any consequence. Another thing which will cause many people to take the I. & C. this year will be the dusty condition of the wagon roads. Almost 500 tickets were sold before noon today.

The floral hall this year presents a beautiful sight. More entries had been made this morning than have ever been before since Miss Nina Ford has had charge of the department. Besides the people who never fail to enter some of their work, several new ones are making exhibits.
Numerous people outside the boundaries of Rush county are trying for some of the prizes.

The entries for the races closed today and show a good field in each event. The races are expected to be up to the standard of the other departments of the fair—the best ever.

YOUNG MAN IS RELEASED

Dalton Powell is Let Out When no
Charges Are Filed.

Dalton Powell, son of Mrs. Laura Powell, who was arrested when his mother telephoned a complaint to Marshal Price Saturday night was released last night. No charges had been filed against him and the officers felt they could not hold the young man longer. Mrs. Powell in her complaint said that her son was driving a stolen horse.

WANT WATSON IN PORTO RICO

Former Rushville Man Says People
There Think Ex-Congressman

Be Next Governor.

Will be Next Governor.

THEY ASK MANY QUESTIONS.

Lee Nixon Says "Jim" Cannot Afford to Turn Down President's Request.

That the people of Porto Rico are anxious for James E. Watson to accept the governorship of the island, is evidenced by a letter received today by the Daily Republican from Lee Nixon, a former Rushville man, now living there. He says that Mr. Watson is the sole topic of political conversation there, and that the people hope and believe he will come. They are anxious to see him, and know more about his family, since they have heard so much about his statesmanship. Mr. Nixon says that because of his personal acquaintance with "Jim," the people are continually asking him about the man they hope will be governor of the island.
"I believe Jim is going to accept the governorship," says Mr. Nixon,
"at least for a while. I get this impression because I think Taft wants him to come here, and I don't see how he can turn it down any more than Taft could turn down the governorship of the Philippines when McKinley asked Taft to go there."

COMRADES MEET IN DISTANT WEST

M. C. Dawson Renews Acquaintance
With Editor of Acme Prospector
Published in Washington.

BOTH SAW GEN. MCPHERSON

The Acme Prospector, published in Acme, Whatcom county, Washington, has the following concerning M. C.
Dawson, a well known Rushville man:

While in Bellingham the first of the week we met M. C. Dawson of Rushville, Indiana, who is in this part of the country visiting an aged brother, who makes his home with a daughter, Mrs. Goble, at Wickersham. In him we found a comrade who had served during the Civil war in Company D of the 32d Ohio Volunteer Infantry, and who on the morning of July 22, 1864, at the battle of Atlanta saw Gen. McPherson not more than five minutes before he was killed, the general riding up to the colonel of the 32d Ohio and giving some orders. We saw the general just as he was killed.
It did us much good to meet Comrade Dawson.

Flights in His Airship at the

Afford to Miss It.

YOUNG HENLEY BURNS THE ROADS

He Drives His Father's Car from Chicago to this City in Record Time.

FRIGHTENS MOTORCYCLE HERE

Bill, Jr., Makes Triumphant Entrance to His Old Home Place and Scares Natives.

It looked like a grim spectre or a fast fleeing ghost which had arisen out of the wreck and destruction of human lives at the Indianapolis motor speedway last week. A dust covered, mud besmeared touring car caused the lazy loungers in North Main street to sit up on their hind legs last evening and take notice. Of course, the chauffeur was not violating the speed ordinance—but he was going some clip.

It was Bill Henley, Jr., the fifteen-year-old son of "Judge" Henley.
Young Bill ran down from Chicago yesterday and made record time between the Windy City and this, his former home. Not that he was anxious to be with old chums and pals again, particularly, but he wanted to demonstrate to his young friend from "Chi" that he knew how to burn up country roads and was also wise to eluding the festive country constables enroute.

It was a triumphant entrance into his old home place for Bill Jr., for when he turned loose his chugger a good natured hay wagon sidestepped, Patchen Boy gets got out of the way with a gentle neigh, and some of the oldest inhabitants wrapped their whiskers about their shirt bosoms and ran for a place of safety. It wasn't the speed so much that worried the natives but that ungodly noise that young Henley unbuckled when he started his machine with a flying start.

This morning, after Henley frightened a motorcycle, City Marshal Price started in hot pursuit with a horse and buggy but the boy hit the West Second street stretch and left town and a wide gap between him and the officer.

FREEMAN GOES TO FRENCH LICK HOTEL

Retiring Proprietor of Windsor Hotel
Accepts Lucrative Position
With Tom Taggart.

STEAMS AWAY ON THE MORROW

John F. Freeman, the retiring landlord of the Windsor hotel here, has accepted a position at the big French Lick hotel at French Lick, Indiana, and goes tomorrow to enter upon his new duties there. Mr. Freeman takes the place next to the general manager, being in charge of the desk books and taking a head shift at the desk during the day.

Mr. Freeman is in every way peculiarly fitted and qualified for the place he is taking and will receive a lucrative salary at the beginning.
Tom Taggart, proprietor of the famous hotel and health resort, took a fancy to the Rushville man upon introduction which means that he will be well taken care of in the future as long as he cares to remain with the crafty politician, who is withal, one of the very best hotel men Indiana ever produced. The best wishes of the many friends of Mr. Freeman go with him in his new undertaking.

NO MATCH FOR HORSE POLICE

Schoenville Strikers Give Up Unequal Fight.

STRIKERS' FUNERALS TODAY

Gloom Settles Upon Steel Car Works Village Today During the Progress of the Funeral of Men Who Were Slain in Sunday Night's Battle With Mounted Police—Bodies Were Laid In State in the Catholic Cathedral at McKee's Rocks—Tolling of the Cathedral Bell Stopped by Police After It Had Continued For Two Hours.

Pittsburg, Aug. 24.—Despite the efforts of mobs to scare off the imported workmen, the plant of the Pressed Steel Car company in Schoenville is still in operation.

The death list resulting from Sunday night's rioting was swelled last night when Mike Desoski, one of the striking men, living in McKee's Rocks, died at Mercy hospital from gunshot wounds. This brings the death list up to seven. All of the seriously wounded are showing slight improvement.

The strikers seem to realize for the first time that their jobs are no more and that the company can do without them. Forty state police are on their way here to augment the company of mounted constabulary now on duty at the plant. Since Sunday night's carnage these cavalymen have evinced a desire to strike fear in the hearts of the men who took their comrades' lives. The strikers realize that the mounted troopers are more than a match for them. Yet these troopers have been subjected to abuse from house windows and doors whenever they chanced to pass a strike sympathizer's home. In retaliation not a striker nor sympathizer has left his doorstep but he was uphanded and searched. Besides the searching the troopers insisted on examining the bodies of the strikers, and if they bore bruises or traces of being clubbed, they were promptly arrested, as the troopers considered such evidence proof that the men had participated in Sunday night's rioting.

Twenty-five men were arrested Monday and put into the box car jails. The men who resisted were manacled to the troopers' horses and dragged through the streets to the plant entrance. At noon the great bells of the Catholic cathedral at McKee's Rocks began to ring. This was kept up for over two hours. Then the bells were ordered silenced by state troopers, as it was pointed out that such demonstration at the present time only went toward agitating the strikers. Strikers' wives begged Lieutenant Smith of the state constabulary for news of their missing husbands. The lieutenant had ten hats gathered from "Bloody Corner" of the conflict Sunday night. Several of the women said that the hats belonged to their husbands and sons, and wept copiously over the headgear.

The strikers seem awed at the extent of Sunday night's fatalities. The gloom over the little car company village is also attributed to the fact that today the funeral of the strikers who were victims of Sunday night's rioting was held. The strikers' bodies were laid in state at the Catholic cathedral at McKee's Rocks during the morning, and headed by the strikers and their sympathizers, were interred this afternoon in the little cemetery just outside of Schoenville.

The news that additional state constabulary were on their way from Wilkesbarre seemed to act as a quietus upon the few strike sympathizers who gathered in doorways and discussed the situation.

"There is no use now," said one of the striking men, "to try to resist these mounted police, as eighty such men armed as they are are more than a match for a thousand strikers." The United States government will take up the peonage charges against President F. N. Hoffstat and Foreman Samuel Cohen of the Pressed Steel Car company to the extent of making a thorough investigation of the allegations made by Albert Vamos, who swore to the charges before United States Commissioner Lindsey on Saturday.

City Objects to Troopers.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 24.—The McKee's Rocks city council at a special meeting called for the purpose, appointed a committee to go at once to Harrisburg and ask Governor Stuart to call the state constabulary from the plant of the Pressed Steel Car company, whose 3,500 employees are on strike.

Pensacola in Terror.

Pensacola, Fla., Aug. 24.—For the second time in the history of the city, hurricane warnings are displayed by the weather bureau and have caused much uneasiness among the bayshore residents, who fear a repetition of the hurricane of three years ago.

The Mobile, Jackson & Kansas City railroad has been sold under foreclosure, the purchase price being $3,200,000, and Neil A. Weathers the bidder for the bondholders.

HOME AGAIN

E. H. Harriman Returns From Hunt of Health in Europe.

New York, Aug. 24.—Public interest in Mr. Harriman's return today grows acute as the Kaiser Wilhelm II. draws near to her pier in New York. The general anxiety as to his health has found expression in a series of published appreciations of his personality and achievements such as probably never before has been accorded a private citizen.

There is manifest disappointment in Wall street that Mr. Harriman's sojourn abroad has not set him up sufficiently to immediately resume active direction of the great interests with which his name is associated. Both the Southern and the Union Pacific directors are meeting today, but it has not even been suggested from any authoritative source that Mr. Harriman will make any attempt to attend these meetings, which are expected to declare dividends and deal with other matters of importance. On the contrary, after a brief reception at the his new country place at Arden, for Erie railroad station, he goes direct to further rest.

AERIAL RACES MAKE BIG HIT IN FRANCE

American Flyer Scores Record at Rheims.

Rheims, France, Aug. 24.—The American aviator, Glenn H. Curtiss, and M. Paulham, representing France, divided the honors of the second day of aviation week, the former with a thrilling flight just before dusk, in which he lowered the speed record for the course, which measures 6 1/2 miles, to 8 minutes 35 2/5 seconds; the latter making two impressive high altitude flights of 49 1/2 and 56 kilometers respectively in the endurance test for the Prix de la Champagne.

Curtiss's performance began just as the time limit for the start of the prix de la Champagne was expiring, when the American enthusiasts had abandoned hope of seeing their representative take the field. Amid the unbounded jubilation of the French spectators, Blieriot only a few minutes before had clipped sixteen seconds off Lefebvre's record made Sunday with his powerful 80-horse-power monoplane. Suddenly at one end of the field a cry went up: "The American is starting." All eyes were strained to that particular point, where Cortland Field Bishop, president of the Aero Club of America, and a crowd of other admirers surrounded Curtiss.

With a preliminary run along the ground of 100 yards, the machine rose lightly and shot by the tribunes at a height of sixty feet. It was going at a terrific pace, with the wing level as a plain. Curtiss made the last turn under the mistaken impression that the finish line was closer. He descended so close to earth that many thought he touched, but, perceiving his error, he mounted quickly and easily, crossing the line majestically. An instant later the signal was hoisted that he had made a record.

Curtiss said he had not pushed his machine to the limit of its speed, and laughingly declined to say more, adding that the most interesting incident of his flight was the view he got of his fallen rivals strewn around the course.

It is the intention of the American aviator now to await patiently the international event for the Gordon Bennett cup Saturday, for which he is again the favorite, after which he will try for the prix de la Vitesse, the final of which will be contested on Sunday.

Paulham also made a record in the endurance test, but Lefebvre, Sommer, Sanchis-Pesa, Blieriot, Delagrangue, Lambert, Cockburn, Bunau-Varilla, Gebron, Latham, Tissandier and Farman qualified with flights varying from 200 metres to 25 kilometres, the majority contenting themselves with covering sufficient distance to get within the limit. During Paulham's long flight chance races took place between him and Blieriot and Lefebvre, the two latter outspeeding the high flying Paulham. Blieriot appeared while Paulham was completing his fourth round, and with his 80-horse-power monoplane, swiftly overhauled and passed under the biplane, leaving it far behind.

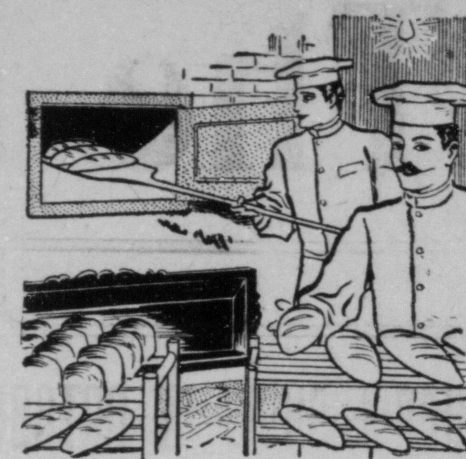

ANCIENT FEUD REVIVED

Albanians Again Defy Turkey and a Brisk Battle Occurs.

Uskub, European Turkey, Aug. 24.—Albanians in the revolutionary movement against the Turkish ministry refused to enter into negotiations looking to peace. Orders, therefore, were issued for an advance by Turkish troops from the station at Verissow to clear the adjacent country of Albanians, with rapid fire. The advance was carried out, but the losses are unknown. Railway traffic has been suspended.

Many Spanish Schools Closed.

Barcelona, Spain, Aug. 24.—In connection with the movement to stamp out revolutionary tendencies, the government has closed ninety-four laical schools and centers of teaching on the ground that they are seditiously inclined in their course of instruction. Several alleged anarchists have been expelled from the country.

Woodbury's Combination Hair and Scalp Treatment costs no more than the ordinary kind—no more than those preparations produced by makers unknown to you. Yet Woodbury's is backed up by almost unlimited experience.

How foolish it is to use goods of unknown quality when it is so easy to get the best. When you use Woodbury's, not only are you sure you are getting the best preparations for the hair and scalp but you know you are entitled to write to the Woodbury specialists for advice. You know you can have the benefit of the vast experience at the Woodbury Institute.

If you don't see this trademark on the label it's an imitation. Woodbury's Combination Hair and Scalp Treatment saves the hair. It restores its lustre and makes it beautiful and abundant. It eradicates dandruff; it strengthens the hair and increases its vitality; it destroys the deadly "plant microbe"—the great hair enemy. No disease of the hair or scalp can resist the curative effect of the complete Woodbury treatment.

Write The Woodbury Company, 47 West 34th Street, New York City, for booklet or get one from the agent in your town. Woodbury's Preparations are sold by druggists everywhere. F. E. WOLCOTT, Agent for Rushville.

Strong Healthy Women

If a woman is strong and healthy in a womanly way, motherhood means to her but little suffering. The trouble lies in the fact that the many women suffer from weakness and disease of the distinctly feminine organism and are unfitted for motherhood. This can be remedied.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Cures the weaknesses and disorders of women. It acts directly on the delicate and important organs concerned in motherhood, making them healthy, strong, vigorous, virile and elastic.

"Favorite Prescription" banishes the indispositions of the period of expectancy and makes baby's advent easy and almost painless. It quickens and vitalizes the feminine organs, and insures a healthy and robust baby. Thousands of women have testified to its marvelous merits.

It Makes Weak Women Strong. It Makes Sick Women Well. Honest druggists do not offer substitutes, and urge them upon you as "just as good." Accept no secret nostrum in place of this non-secret remedy. It contains not a drop of alcohol and not a grain of habit-forming or injurious drugs. Is a pure glyceric extract of healing, native American roots.

The Indianapolis school supply men who have been pulling the wool over the eyes of township trustees at the expense of taxpayers are the first to object to the supervision of township purchases. They do not want the State accounting board to nose into any of their crooked practices. But the people will not object to the supervision.

"Morals at the Seashore" is a subject that is receiving some attention during this summer season. The peculiar fact has been plainly noticed that the standard of propriety and morals of an inland village and a seashore resort are diametrically the opposite. And it can also be observed that when the average inland dweller with a face much longer than wide hies himself to the seashore on a summer vacation, his face instantly assumes a shape much wider than long, but the minute he steps off the car on his return home, his face promptly assumes the former long shape. All of which goes to show that there is a great deal of "grand stand" play, hypocrisy and bigotry in this world.

Automobile racing in past years has demonstrated the fact that racing on mile tracks intended for the use of horses is too dangerous to be practicable. Specially built courses, such as the Indianapolis Motor Speedway has followed. Yet on the first day of racing on that specially built course two men were killed by the wrecking of a speeding car.

As a public spectacle and a source of entertainment automobile races are so dangerous as to have a tendency to be brutalizing. It is not wholesome for thousands of people to gather for an event, interest in which consists largely in speculation whether there will be a fatal accident.

Everybody knows that automobiles can be made and driven at a speed of approximately two miles per minute. No glory is to be had in new records.

It would be better if manufacturers of automobiles would devote their entire energies to the development of reliability and the public will be satisfied with the speed attained. Already most cars will travel faster than they can be driven with any degree of safety. A sport that looks to peril for its interest is not desirable from any point of view.

THIS AND THAT

The fellow who started the story that the admission to the fair would be fifty cents probably has a girl and thought everybody else had.

Of course, the newspaper man who is going to a warmer climate probably has been told to do so several times before.

The fact that the fair dance will be in the skating rink will not make it permissible to get a "skate" on by any means.

A tip for the enemies of David Harum. Have his mother arrest him.

Of course John Freeman will take along his golf sticks. He will be the "connecting link" between the desk and the course. That will suit him to a "tee."

Juvenile actors hold the boards and are the reigning rage at the local five cent theaters for fair week.

Oh sadness and grief in bunches! Jimmy Adams was not here to serve as chef for the Henley camp.

PREACHES TO HIS FIRST LOVE HERE

Rev. W. P. McGarey Delivers Able Sermon to People in His First Pastorate.

TWO LARGE CROWDS HEAR HIM

Rev. W. P. McGarey of Sparta, Ill., left yesterday morning for his old home in Pennsylvania, after spending Saturday and Sunday here in this city. While here he occupied the pulpit of the United Presbyterian church and preached two very able and inspiring sermons to a crowded house, both morning and evening.

The U. P. congregation here was Mr. Gary's "first love," it being his first pastorate. By his untiring efforts and faithful performance of duty, he built up the congregation from a small membership to its present condition, and was largely instrumental in obtaining the present first place of worship. It was indeed refreshing to the congregation and the community to have the privilege of hearing him again. While he was somewhat weak on account of his physical condition, yet he preached with a power and earnestness that made a deep impression upon his hearers, and all departed feeling it was "good for them to have been there."

Mrs. McGarey and Marjorie did not accompany Mr. McGarey, as was first reported.

THIS IS NO "GRAPEVINE."

(Columbus Republican.) It is admitted by almost all agriculturists and horticulturists that certain varieties of vegetables and fruits will mix, but there is a horticultural mixup at Hartsville that is regarded as a poser.

At the home of Dr. W. H. Beck, of that town, an apple is growing on a grapevine, and it was not grafted there, either.

The apple tree and grapevine bloomed at the same time, and as they are close together, it is supposed that some pollen from the apple blossoms was wafted to the grape blossoms, and thus like the little peach of emerald hue, it grew until now it has developed an apple the size of a walnut and one that gives promise of becoming much larger.

FARMERS MUST HAVE A LICENSE

Are Liable to be Punished for Selling Adulterated Butter on the Market.

CASES HAVE BEEN FOUND.

"Farmers who knowingly or unknowingly adulterate butter which they bring to market, are just as liable to be punished for selling such butter without license as the creameries, regular butter manufacturers and dealers," says an Internal Revenue Agent.

"It has been the general impression among farmers that they are outside the law and that they can sell any kind of butter without the license, believing that such a license applies only to creameries and oleomargarine manufacturers. This is a false impression, and I would advise the farmers who sell butter to grocers to acquaint themselves with the law governing the production and sale of adulterated food."

Several cases of this kind have come before the notice of the revenue officers. Adulterated butter has been found at various groceries over the State, and the dealers say that they bought the butter direct from well known farmers and had no suspicions that it was adulterated.

CHAPTER V.

The Crawling Stone.

The valley of Crawling Stone river marked for more than a decade the dead line between the overlaid route of the white man and the last country of the Sioux. It was long after the building of the first line before even an engineer's reconnaissance was made in the Crawling Stone country. Then, within ten years, three surveys were made, two on the north side of the river and one on the south side, by interests seeking a coast outlet. Three reports made in this way gave varying estimates of the expense of putting a line up the valley, but the three coincided in this, that the cost would be prohibitive. Engineers of reputation had in this respect agreed, but Glover, who looked after such work for Bucks, remained unconvinced, and before McCloud was put into the operating department on the Short Line he was asked by Glover to run a preliminary up Crawling Stone valley. Before the date of his report the conclusions reached by other engineers had stood unchallenged.

The valley was not unknown to McCloud. His first year in the mountains, in which, fitted as thoroughly as he could fit himself for his profession, he had come west and found himself unable to get work, had been spent hunting, fishing, and wandering, often cold and often hungry, in the upper Crawling Stone country. The valley in itself offers to a constructionist no insuperable obstacles; the difficulty is presented in the canyon where the river bursts through the Elbow mountains. South of this canyon, McCloud, one day on a hunting trip, found himself with two Indians pocketed in the rough country, and was planning how to escape passing a night away from camp when his companions led him past a vertical wall of rock 1,000 feet high, split into a narrow defile down which they rode, as it broadened out, for miles. They emerged upon an open country that led without a break into the valley of the Crawling Stone below the canyon. Afterward, when he had become a railroad man, McCloud, sitting at a campfire with Glover and Morris Blood, heard them discussing the coveted and impossible line up the valley. He had been taken into the circle of constructionists and was told of the earlier reports against the line. He thought he knew something about the Elbow mountains, and disputed the findings, offering in two days' ride to take the men before him to the pass called by the Indians the Box, and to take them through it. Glover called it a find, and a big one, and though more immediate matters in the strategy of territorial control then came before him, the preliminary was ordered and McCloud's findings were approved. McCloud himself was soon afterward engrossed in the problems of operating the mountain division; but the dream of his life was to build the Crawling Stone line with a maximum grade of eight-tenths through the Box.

The prettiest stretch of Crawling Stone valley lies within 20 miles of Medicine Bend. There it lies widest, and has the pick of water and grass between Medicine Bend and the Mission mountains. Cattlemen went into the Crawling Stone country before the Indians had wholly left it. The first house in the valley was the Stone ranch, built by Richard Dunning, and it still stands overlooking the town of Dunning at the junction of the Frenchman creek and the Crawling Stone. The Frenchman is fed by unfailing springs, and when by summer sun and wind every smaller stream in the middle basin has been licked dry, the Frenchman runs cold and swift between its russet hills. Richard Dunning, being on the border of the Indian country, built for his ranch-house a rambling stone fortress. He had chosen, it afterward proved, the choice spot in the valley, and he stocked it with cattle when yearlings could be picked up in the Medicine Bend at ten dollars a head. He got together a great body of valley land when it could be had for the asking, and became the rich man of the Long Range.

The Dunnings were Kentuckians. Richard was a bridge engineer and builder, and under Brodie built some of the first bridges on the mountain division, notably the great wooden bridge at Smoky creek. Richard brought out his nephew, Lance Dunning. He taught Lance bridge-building, and Murray Sinclair, who began as a cowboy on the Stone ranch, learned bridge-building from Richard Dunning. The Dunnings both came west, though at different times, as young men and unmarried, and as far as western women were concerned, might always have remained so. But a Kentucky cousin, Betty, one of the Fairfield Dunnings, related to Richard within the sixth or eighth degree, came to the mountains for her health. Betty's mother had brought Richard up as a boy, and Betty, when he left Fairfield, was a baby. But Dick—as they knew him at home—and the mother wrote back and forth, and he persuaded her to send Betty out for a trip, promising he would send her back in a year a well woman.

Betty came with only her colored maid, old Puss Dunning, who had taken her from the nurse's arms when she was born and taken care of her ever since. The two—the tall Kentucky girl and the bent mammy—arrived at the Stone ranch one day in June, and Richard, done then with bridges and looking after his ranch interests, had already fallen violently in love with Betty. She was delicate, but, if those in Medicine Bend who remembered her said true, a lovely creature. Remaining in the mountains was the last thing Betty had ever thought of, but no one, man or woman, could withstand Dick Dunning. She fell quite in love with him the first time she set eyes on him in Medicine Bend, for he was very handsome in the saddle, and Betty was fairly wild about horses. So Dick Dunning wooed a fond mistress and married her and buried her, and all within hardly more than a year.

But in that year they were very happy, never two happier, and when she slept away her suffering she left him, as a legacy, a tiny baby girl. Puss brought the mite of a creature in its swaddling clothes to the sick mother—very, very sick then—and poor Betty turned her dark eyes on it, kissed it, looked at her husband and whispered "Dickie," and died. Dickie had been Betty's pet name for her mountain lover, so the father said the child's name should be Dickie and nothing else; and his heart broke and soon he died. Nothing else, storm or flood, death or disaster, had ever moved Dick Dunning; then a single blow killed him. He rode once in a while over the ranch, a great tract by that time of 20,000 acres, all in one body, all under fence, up and down both sides of the big river, in part irrigated, swarming with cattle—none of it stirred Dick! and with little Dickie in his arms he slept away his suffering.

So Dickie was left, as her mother had been, to Puss, while Lance looked after the ranch, swore at the price of cattle, and played cards at Medicine Bend. At ten, Dickie, as thoroughly spoiled as a pet baby could be by a fool mammy, a fond cousin, and a galaxy of devoted cowboys, was sent, in spite of crying and flinging, to a far-away convent—her father had planned everything—where in many years she learned that there were other things in the world besides cattle and mountains and sunshine and tall, broad-batted horsemen to swing from their stirrups and pick her hat from the ground—just to see little Dickie laugh—when they swooped past the house to the corral. When she came back from Kentucky, her grandmother dead and her school days finished, all the land she could see in the valley was hers, and all the living creatures in the fields. It seemed perfectly natural, because since childhood even the distant mountains and their snows had been Dickie's.

CHAPTER VI.

In Marion's Shop.

In Boney street, Medicine Bend, stands an early-day row of one-story buildings; they once made up a prosperous block, which has long since fallen into the decay of paintless days. There is in Boney street a livery stable, a second-hand store, a laundry, a bakery, a moribund grocery, and a bicycle shop, and at the time of this story there was also Marion Sinclair's millinery shop; but the better class of Medicine Bend business, such as the gambling houses, saloons, pawnshops, restaurants, barber shops, and those sensitive, clean-shaven, and alert establishments known as "gents' stores," had deserted Boney street for many years. Pats fly in the dark of Boney street while Front street at the same hour is a blaze of electricity and frontier hilarity. The millinery store stood next to the corner of Fort street. The lot lay in an "L," and at the rear of the store the first owner had built a small connecting cottage to live in. This faced on Fort street, so that Marion had her shop and living rooms communicating, and yet apart. The store building is still pointed out as the former shop of Marion Sinclair, where George McCloud boarded when the Crawling Stone line was built, where Whispering Smith might often have been seen, where Sinclair himself was last seen alive in Medicine Bend, where Dickie Dunning's horse dragged her senseless one wild mountain night, and where, indeed, for a time the affairs of the whole mountain division seemed to tangle in very hard knots.

In her dining room, which connected through a curtained door with the shop, McCloud sat one day alone eating his dinner. Marion was in front serving a customer. McCloud heard voices in the shop, but gave no heed till a man walked through the curtained doorway and he saw Murray Sinclair standing before him. A stormy interview with Callahan and Blood at the Wickup had taken place just a week before, and McCloud after what Sinclair had then threatened though not prepared, felt as he saw him that anything might occur. McCloud being in possession of the little room, however, the initiative fell on Sinclair, who, looking his best, snatched his hat from his head and bowed ironically. "My mistake," he said blandly.

"Come right in," returned McCloud, not knowing whether Marion had a possible hand in her husband's unexpected appearance. "Do you want to see me?"

"I don't," smiled Sinclair; "and to be perfectly frank," he added with studied consideration, "I wish to God I never had seen you. Well—you've thrown me, McCloud."

"You've thrown yourself, haven't you, Murray?"

"From your point of view, of course. But, McCloud, this is a small country for two points of view. Do you want to get out of it, or do you want me to?"

"The country suits me, Sinclair."

"No man that has ever played me dirt can stay here while I stay," Sinclair, with a hand on the pistol, was moving from the doorway into the room. McCloud in a leisurely way rose, though with a slightly flushed face, and at that juncture Marion ran into the room and spoke abruptly.

"Here is the silk, Mr. Sinclair," she exclaimed, handing to him a package she had not finished wrapping. "I meant you to wait in the other room."

"It was an accidental intrusion," returned Sinclair, maintaining his irony.

THE AMERICAN TOBACCO COMPANY

"I have apologized, and Mr. McCloud and I understand one another better than ever."

"Please say to Miss Dunning," continued Marion, nervous and insistent, "that the band for her riding-hat hasn't come yet, but it should be here to-morrow."

As she spoke McCloud leaned across the table, resolved to take advantage of the opening, if it cost him his life. "And by the way, Mr. Sinclair, Miss Dunning wished me to say to you that the lovely bay colt you sent her had sprung his shoulder badly, the hind shoulder, I think, but they are doing everything possible for it and they think it will make a great horse."

Sinclair's snort at the information was a marvel of indecision. Was he being made fun of? Should he draw and end it? But Marion faced him resolutely as he stood, and talking in the most business like way she backed him out of the room and to the shop door. Balked of his opportunity, he retreated stubbornly but with the utmost politeness, and left with a grin, lashing his tail, so to speak.

Coming back, Marion tried to hide her uneasiness under even tones to McCloud. "I'm sorry he disturbed you. I was attending to a customer and had to ask him to wait a moment."

"Don't apologize for having a customer,"

"He lives over beyond the Stone ranch, you know, and is taking some things out for the Dunnings to-day. He likes an excuse to come in here because it annoys me. Finish your dinner, Mr. McCloud."

"Thank you, I'm done."

"But you haven't eaten anything. Isn't your steak right?"

"It's fine, but that man—well, you know how I like him and how he likes me. I'll content myself with digesting my temper."

ISN'T IT STRANGE?

Did it ever occur to you that the reason medical doctors have so little success in curing Tuberculosis, is because they really do not practice medicine?

To say that a specific exists for the cure of Consumption is perhaps too strong a statement, but in Eckman's Alternative, we have a medicine that has been the means of saving many a life to years of usefulness and in permanently curing a large number of Consumptives.

Telling every sufferer to gorge himself with eggs and milk is apparently the limit of modern treatment. Certainly a person afflicted with a wasting disease should be well fed with wholesome nourishing food; but frequently raw eggs in quantities, cause a digestive breakdown, and then no food nourishes. As for milk, a very good food for many; but a producer of biliousness for some.

Any diet that keeps a Consumptive well nourished is the right one, but what is coming to cure the patient?—Eckman's Alternative has cured and is curing many a case of Consumption. Let those speak who know. Here is a specimen:—

St. Mary's, 253 N. Third St. Memphis, Tenn., September 5, 1907. Gentlemen:—The patient for whom we ordered the Alternative some time since has regained his health. The doctors say his lungs have healed.

(Signed) SISTERS OF ST. FRANCIS Eckman's Alternative is good for all Throat and Lung Trouble and is on sale

BOLD CHARGES OF CONSPIRACY

Congressman Fowler Pays Respects to Cannon.

HE BRINGS ALDRICH INTO IT

In an Open Letter, Charles N. Fowler, Representative in Congress From New Jersey, Boldly Charges the Existence of a Conspiracy Between the Speaker and the Senate Leader to Control Legislation—Of Cannon's Record on Financial Legislation Mr. Fowler Says It Is the Rottenest in History—A Tart Letter Given to the Public.

New York, Aug. 24.—In an open letter Representative Charles N. Fowler of Elizabeth, N. J., makes a sensational attack on Speaker Joseph G. Cannon. Mr. Fowler boldly charges the existence of a conspiracy between the speaker of the house and Senator Nelson Aldrich of Rhode Island for the controlling of all national legislation and of defeating both tariff reform and currency reform. He also broadly intimates that Aldrich and Cannon conspired to discredit the president by raising the tariff rates so that the president's promise and that of the party, as contained in the Chicago platform, would not be fulfilled.

Mr. Fowler charges sinister motives in the attempt to establish a central bank in Washington; shows the trickery employed to thwart the president's wishes in passing the tariff bill, and quotes the profanity of Uncle Joe's conversation as applied to his everyday work of making the laws for the American people.

Mr. Fowler says the Republicans will win the next congressional elections only over the grave of Cannonism. Incidentally he gives Cannon's record on financial legislation since 1874, and says it is the "rottenest" in history.

OF GENERAL INTEREST

Other States May Question Decision of a West Virginia Judge.

Charleston, W. Va., Aug. 24.—In the circuit court Judge Burdette has issued an injunction restraining the state and county officials from enforcing the 2-cent fare law against the Norfolk & Western railroad. The court holds the law is unconstitutional and is confiscatory on its face. The railroad company in its petition declared that the test of the law for two years proved it confiscatory.

The court's order requires the road to issue coupons with 3-cent fare tickets for the excess over 2 cents a mile collected until a test case pending in the state supreme court is decided.

MOSBY'S GUERRILLAS

Are Preparing to Hold a Reunion With Their Old Chief.

Bristol, Tenn., Aug. 24.—One of the most remarkable gatherings of civil war veterans ever held in the south will be the reunion of Mosby's guerrillas to be held at Luray Caverns, Va., August 28. Captain John S. Mosby, of the now famous Forty-third Virginia battalion is still living, having his residence on the Pacific coast and is now on his way east to greet his old comrades. He will meet scores of his men whom he has not seen since they parted at Appomattox, Va., in 1865.

Grew Weary of Darkness.

Columbia, City, Ind., Aug. 24.—Rudolph Helbig, eighty years old, committed suicide at his home in Union township by hanging himself from the rafters of an outhouse. He was discovered ten minutes after the act by his aged wife. Helbig was in excellent health, but had been blind for two years, and his affliction weighed heavily upon him.

Lancaster Says Harris Shot
Him From Ambush.

FIVE BULLETS TOOK EFFECT

Wealthy Market Gardner Near Richmond Was Made the Victim of a Would-Be Assassin as He Drove Up to His Home Late at Night—John B. Lancaster Says He Was Shot by His Neighbor, Witt Harris, Who Has Been Placed Under Arrest—Though Five Shots Struck Him, Lancaster May Recover.

Richmond, Ind., Aug. 24.—Every one of five shots from the revolver of the would-be assassin taking effect, John D. Lancaster, a wealthy farmer and gardener, who was fired on from ambush, lives to tell the story.

Witt Harris, a neighboring farmer, fifty-six years old, is in jail charged with shooting with intent to kill. Lancaster is one of the most popular and esteemed gardeners in the vicinity of Richmond, and is a man of wealth. His farm is one mile north of the city.

Lancaster had been to Richmond and had driven home late at night. As he reached his gate out of the darkness came the voice of a man who commanded Lancaster to halt. "We might as well settle this whole matter here," said the man in the darkness. With these words as a preliminary, he began firing, five shots following one another in quick succession. The would-be assassin then disappeared in the darkness. Lancaster told his men that he had been fired on by Witt Harris. He had recognized Harris's voice, though he could not see the man.

Physicians who were summoned found that Lancaster had not been dangerously wounded, though there is danger of blood poisoning. The first shot took effect in his left hand. The second and third shots struck his right hand. The fourth shot struck the side of his head, making a flesh wound along the right temple close to the eye, and the last shot struck him in the abdomen, but was deflected, and after making an ugly wound, though not a deep one, passed out of the body an inch or so from the point it entered.

Harris was arrested an hour after the shooting, at his home, a short distance from the Lancaster farm. He made no resistance, but was defiant in his attitude and declined to discuss the affair. In a statement to the prosecuting attorney following the shooting, Lancaster said he had never had serious difficulty with Harris. Harris, who is fifty-six years old, was married a few weeks ago to Jane Kerlin, aged seventy-six years. He had been employed on the Kerlin farm for several years.

COSTLY CANTALOUPE

This Man Will Serve a Month and Pay $25 Fine For "Hooking" It.

Indianapolis, Aug. 24.—Thinking to find work here, he said, William Stacy, thirty years old, came to Indianapolis from Cincinnati. He was penniless and without food. He wandered through the railroad yards at Delaware street and the union tracks. There he found men engaged in unloading cantaloupes, and finding an opportune moment, stole one.

A special policeman employed in guarding the yards caught Stacy in the act and sent him to police station charged with petit larceny. In police court Judge Whallon fined him $25 and costs and sent him to the workhouse for thirty days. It was a pickle cantaloupe.

UNDERTAKERS DISPUTE

Wrangle Leads to Attachment of Body at Goshen.

Goshen, Ind., Aug. 24.—A legal struggle for the possession of the body of Charles Cray, once a great checker player, began when his body arrived at Goshen. Cray died in Galveston, Tex., of sunstroke. Relatives called the Smith Clark company as undertakers. C. B. Stiver exhibited a contract made several years ago at Cray's request by his attorney, Lou W. Vail, with Mr. Stiver, undertaker, providing for cremation of his body. The body was attached upon arrival.

Big Doings at South Bend.

South Bend, Ind., Aug. 24.—From Oct. 3 to 9 a home-coming celebration will be held in South Bend. While it is for St. Joseph county, of which South Bend is the capital, the indications are that it will attract back to Indiana former residents of the state. The celebration is planned on a scale which promises the largest and greatest affair of the kind ever held in the central west.

Wouldn't Live on Charity.

Danville, Ind., Aug. 24.—John Calvin Pritchett, aged fifty-two, committed suicide by drinking poison. Around the bottle was a note in which he said he was unable to get work of any kind and did not wish to live on the charity of the people.
